The New Hub Range with the Reflex Grate
A HOUSEHOLD NECESSITY
Smith & Anthony Stove Co.,
Manufacturers,
BOSTON, MASS.
Having kept very quiet for the past three months, we crave your indulgence for a few moments, while we explain to our competitors where they are in danger of deviating from the truth. They say that "the REFLEX GRATE will not work after a few months?" We can prove by dozens of persons who have used them for two and three years, that the Reflex Grate will outlast two ordinary grates and still be in perfect working order. This is a fact, and to dispute it is more than anyone can do.
The New Hub
RECOGNIZES NO COMPETITOR.
Try one, three months, then if you are not satisfied that it is the most perfect working range in the world, return it and get your money.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA.

When the blood is foul and thick in the spring, disorders of various kinds manifest themselves, such as a feeling of general debility, a sense of weakness, a want of appetite, a languor and apathy, sometimes a weariness and lassitude. This condition, enervating and enfeebling, is wholly overcome by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. It vitalizes and enriches the blood, invigorates the nervous system, tones and strengthens the digestive organs, and imparts new life and energy to all the organs of the body. Try it.

"I have never found anything that hit my wants as Hood's Sarsaparilla. It tones up my system, purifies my blood, sharpens my appetite and seems to make me over." J. P. THOMPSON, Register of Deeds, Lowell, Mass.

As a Vitalizer.
"I write most of the time in an office, and often get overworked. Not having time to give up, I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla as a vitalizer, and I am satisfied it has saved me from a lot of sickness several times. I took three bottles every spring, and find it pre-eminently superior as a spring tonic to anything I ever took. My boarding mistress says Hood's Sarsaparilla is a sure cure for sick headache, if sufferers give it a perfect trial." C. J. CHILSON, Somerville, Mass.

Superior on Fair Trial.
I regard Hood's Sarsaparilla as the most reliable and best spring medicine. I had tried many others without good results, and consequently concluded all alike, until I gave Hood's Sarsaparilla a fair trial, when I was convinced it was superior to all others. Every spring I take three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and know nothing of that terrible languor so prevalent at that season of the year. I have just finished my first bottle for 1883, and already feel much improved. Mrs. J. M. CARTER, Boston.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Combines the best remedials of the vegetable kingdom in such proportions as to derive their greatest medicinal effects with the least disturbance to the system. Its action upon the alimentary canal, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach, the bowels, and the circulation of the blood is so well balanced that it brings about a healthy action of the entire human organism that can be credited only by those who have seen the remarkable results that follow its use.

"We think Hood's Sarsaparilla one of the best medicines we ever sold for purifying the blood, and for spring debility, and do not hesitate to give it our unqualified recommendation." GEO. C. GOODWIN & CO., Boston.

"I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla to be the best blood purifier in the market." L. J. CLEMENT, Warber, N. H.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has worked wonders in the cure of my wife, who was troubled with sick headache and biliousness. She is now entirely free from them." HOMER B. NASH, Pittsfield, Mass.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me. I can eat anything without that awful distress, and have a tremendous appetite." PARE PATTEN, Gardiner.

Hood's Sarsaparilla.
Sold by druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

The spring influences develop in your wearied and exhausted system an unnatural longing for food and cheer. You may be sure your blood is in a low condition and needs cleansing.

Take a spring medicine now. Don't wait till your system is further reduced by spring weather, but get Hood's Sarsaparilla immediately.

Hood's Sarsaparilla sharpens the appetite, tones the stomach, invigorates the aged, and imparts new life and energy to all who take it.

A Lowell alderman says: "It's the strongest Sarsaparilla I ever saw." Try it. One hundred doses, $1.

"If people want a medicine to go all through 'em and wake 'em up, tell 'em to take Hood's Sarsaparilla." FREEMAN N. BIXBY, Meredith Village, N. H.

Purify the Blood.
A prominent business man remarks: "In the spring my wife got all run down and could not eat anything. I saw a pile of Hood's Sarsaparilla in the window of Hood's Apothecary, and got a bottle. After taking it a week, she had a ravenous appetite. She took three bottles, and it was the best three dollars I ever invested."

Remember this fact: You find in no other blood purifier or sarsaparilla the same combination of valuable medicinal agents as in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

That Tired Feeling.
There is no infirmity so oppressive and burdensome to the human mind as that tired feeling which invalids complain on the approach of serious disorder. The depression and despondency of spirit attending this state are immeasurable. The lassitude, languor and debility peculiar to this condition are wholly overcome by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. It purifies, vitalizes and enriches the blood, invigorates the nervous system, and imparts new life and energy to all the functions of the body.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Is a great blood medicine. I take it in the spring when I am weak and languid. It helps me more than anything else. For a low state of the blood nothing is better." MRS. A. F. ATKINS, Lynn, Mass.

A lady tells us "The first bottle has done my daughter a great deal of good; her food does not distress her now, nor does she suffer from that extreme tired feeling which she did before taking Hood's Sarsaparilla."

"I recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla for biliousness and all impurities of the blood. Last spring I was benefited by it." Mrs. J. W. CLEMENT, Franklin, N. H.

"I consider Hood's Sarsaparilla one of the best medicines for spring, when the blood is in a low condition and needs cleansing. I have been benefited by it." W. H. CURTIS, R. R. Agent, Haverill, Mass.

Take a spring medicine now. Try Hood's Sarsaparilla, the vitalizing effects of which render it the most effective spring medicine. No other Sarsaparilla has such a sharpening effect upon the appetite. No other preparation tones and strengthens the digestive organs like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Sarsaparilla.
Sold by druggists. $1; six for $5.00. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

According to a recent speech in the Cortes, the Spanish Army is surprisingly "over-generalled," having one general to every 518 men. In France the proportion is 1 to 1,566; in England, 1 to 1,759, and in Germany 1 to 1,514.

Samuel J. Tilden's personal affairs are in the hands of his trusted friend, Andrew H. Green, who will undoubtedly be his executor. Mr. Tilden will leave an immense estate, probably not less than $10,000,000, and there is some curiosity to know what he will do with it.

Much excitement was created in North Adams, Sunday night, by the distribution in church vestibules of a circular alleging gross corruption in town affairs and giving a list of unlicensed liquor saloons, which, it is claimed, pay certain sums monthly to the police as "hush money."

Mr. Boehm has just completed a new marble bust of the Queen. It is a present from her Majesty to a gentleman in India. The Queen is represented in a plain widow's cap, and wears the Orders of the Garter and the Star of India. Beneath the bust are the words, "Victoria, R. I., 1882."

The golden wedding of the Rev. S. B. Halliday, the associate pastor of Plymouth Church, was celebrated last evening in the Sunday-school room of the church, where throngs of friends gathered to congratulate the venerable pair. A purse of $3,000 was presented to Mr. Halliday as a token of esteem.

The other day a Troy man, in a spirit of mischief, seized a boy and held him at arms' length over the railing of a bridge 30 feet above the surface of the ice cold river. The boy squirmed, the young man lost his grip and down into the water the boy went. The young man, however, had sense enough to see his responsibility and jumped in to the rescue. Their escape from drowning was little short of miraculous.

If the Nihilists ever allow Alexander to ascend the throne of the Czars he will carry in his hand a scepter that would make a pretty ornament for anybody's parlor. True, it is not a very useful affair, and would be worthless to poke the fire or beat carpets, but it is well worth having, nevertheless. The bauble is worth $2,000,000 rubles, and was made for Paul I., being tipped with the famous Orloff diamond, which is alone valued at $1,000,000 rubles.

Captain O. H. Oldroyd, of Springfield, Ill., offers to give that State his great collection of relics of Lincoln, as soon as the State will provide a suitable building for its reception, and the Legislature now proposes to purchase Lincoln's former home in Springfield for that purpose. The Oldroyd collection consists of more than two thousand articles ranging from autograph letters to cooking stoves. It includes the "stove-pipe" hat worn by Lincoln on the day of his first nomination for the Presidency.

Miss Jennie Herman, daughter of Mr. Jacob Herman, was to have been married Wednesday evening to Mr. Charles Beckman, at her father's residence, 324 East Baltimore street, Baltimore. When the guests arrived, they found the residence of the Hermans closed, and were told that the wedding had been postponed. It was learned that the bridegroom elect had disappeared a few hours before the time set for the ceremony, after vainly endeavoring to have it postponed. The Hermans are wealthy, and the girl is a belle among the Germans of East Baltimore. Beckman came to this country about four months ago, and obtained employment in the dry goods house of Mr. Herman, where he showed much business capacity and industry. He chanced to meet his employer's daughter, they became engaged, and the parents consented to their union. Beckman broached the subject of dower, but the father refused to do more than start the groom in business, with $5,000 worth of stock. Beckman wanted $10,000 cash, and Herman would not give it. On Tuesday Beckman called on his bride-elect, and during the evening fell on the floor as though suffering from an epileptic fit. He then made the proposal to postpone the wedding but did not get the girl's consent. The opinion is that he desired to marry the girl for her money, and failing to induce the father to come down handsomely, he absconded. The girl is quite ill.

Whig and Courier.

W. H. Doan, of Cleveland, has started a fund for the erection in that city of a music hall to seat 4,000 people. He gives toward the project a $35,000 site and $10,000 in cash. The Vocal Society of Cleveland has agreed to raise $50,000, and many citizens have expressed their willingness to subscribe liberally.

An intimate friend of the family of Charlie Ross in Germantown, Philadelphia, says that the father of the long-lost boy has nearly, if not quite, given up ever seeing his child again, and that the mother despaired long ago of his ever being returned to her. He speaks of the interesting collection of photographs—over 100—which the family has, these having been sent them from every quarter by people who thought they had found, or seen, the missing child. From very many sources supposed clews are coming even to this day, although nearly 10 years have elapsed since the boy was abducted.

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

The Journal says: There are three feet of snow at the head waters of the Androscoggin. The lumbermen who are usually obliged to come out at this time, can work two or three weeks longer. It is now excellent "doing." The cut of timber has been immense this winter.

Through some inadvertency, Mrs. Ada Cary Sturgis, on her way from Portland to Lewiston, Friday morning, left her purse in a car seat of Conductor Jewett's train. Mrs. Sturgis discovered her loss only after the train from Brunswick to Lewiston had left Brunswick station. A telegram from Conductor Cobb, at Lisbon Falls, reached Conductor Jewett's train at Richmond. The purse was found snugly tucked away under the car seat where the lady had dropped it.

Cumberland.

The Dominion steamer Toronto, from Portland, March 4th, with 280 cattle and 165 sheep, arrived at Liverpool, last Thursday, and landed her live stock in good condition, with the exception of two cattle and nine sheep, which died on the passage.

The Press says: A young lad about ten years of age, whose parents went to Secarappa from Portland a few weeks since, and moved into one of the new houses of the Westbrook Co., while playing in the wood-shed recently, got open a tool-chest, the property of James Sproul, who lives in the other part of the house, and took out some cartridges, filled with nitro-glycerine, and after tossing them about promiscuously, and picking them with a pin, as boys will do, held one above a hot stove when it exploded with great force, blowing off the thumb and fore finger of the right hand.

A dog owned in Portland has quite a fancy for travelling. When the freak takes him he goes aboard the Boston boat and makes a quiet trip to the Hub. When the boat reaches that city he disappears in the crowd, but never fails to return and make the homeward trip at night. No one knows where he spends the day after leaving the boat, nor how he manages to keep posted on the boat's departure, which is two hours earlier in winter than in summer, but he never gets left.

Some time ago, Mr. Robert M. McClutchy, freight agent of the Boston & Maine, broke up housekeeping, and removed his goods into Portland, from Woodford's, and stored them over the Boston & Maine passenger station, once the Walker House. The place was so public, that it hardly seemed necessary to make a very frequent examination of goods supposed to be safe, but last week it was found that the more valuable articles were missing, including several articles of furniture. All the crockery was taken—the thieves making in that respect a valuable haul—and the most of Mrs. McClutchy's wardrobe was also stolen.

Kennebec.

At the jail workshop there have been made about 1,200 pairs of Bogan shoes this winter. They find a very ready sale. Forty prisoners are confined in Kennebec jail.

Penobscot.

At the annual town meeting in Thomaston, on Monday, the following were elected: Moderator, Atwood Levensaler; Clerk, Thos. A. Carr; Selectmen, W. H. Hades, T. S. Andrews, Thos. Russell; Assessors, John C. Levensaler, Chas. Prince, D. P. Rose; Treasurer, W. C. Burgess; Supervisor, Horace O'Brien; Road Commissioner, W. C. Gay. There was no political contest, and the vote was unanimous.

A town meeting was held, Monday, at Camden, to choose a Selectman in place of W. D. Lewis, resigned. Unusual interest was manifested on account of a disaffected clique who nominated J. H. Montgomery, Democrat. The Greenbackers nominated J. P. Wellman who has served in the town in the same office for the last five years with such satisfaction that he was generally endorsed by Republicans and Democrats. Montgomery had 145 and Wellman 343, and was declared elected. The Republicans made no nomination. Party lines were not observed in the contest.

Frank A. Hewett, of Rockport, the young man who was wounded by the accidental discharge of a pistol at the skating rink, last week, is out again and experiences no trouble or inconvenience from the bullet which imbedded itself in the cheek bone, instead of passing through and out the other side as reported.

The Camden Herald says, so soon as necessary funds can be procured, an effort will be made to secure a new trial for Nathan F. Hart, convicted of the murder of Mrs. Mcservey, at Tenant's Harbor.

York.

Clarence A. Jennings, of Kittery, stole ten pounds of copper from the navy yard. Deputy U. S. Marshal Smith arrested him Saturday, brought him to Portland, and before Commissioner Rand, Jennings pleaded guiltly and was ordered to recognize in $500. Committed.

There was no Court House in York county until after 1700. The courts were called together by the beat of the drum, no bells being in use. A man was annually chosen for this duty, and was allowed two shillings per day, which was double the pay of a juror at that time. The expenses of the first court in Saco were £4 and 10s. In a report of the grand jury in 1651, we find the following: "We do present Anthony Emery for being out, gone with drink, so that he could not speak a true word." A bill was found against Goodey Mendum for saying "Mr. Godfrey was a dissembling man. Also for speaking disrespectfully of Mr. Nicholas Shapleigh and wife. Mrs. S. was the daughter of Tobias Langdon, of Portsmouth, and probably gave herself airs that Goodey Mendum did not approve. Anthony Emery is on our records, and as Mendum was a common name here it is probable that the offenders were both Kittery people.

AN EXTRAORDINARY BUILDING.

A DWELLING HOUSE FIVE FEET WIDE, FIFTY FEET DEEP, AND FOUR STORIES HIGH.

The narrowest house in New York, may be seen at the northwest corner of Lexington Avenue and Eighty-second Street. When Lexington Avenue was cut through some years ago, a strip of land five feet wide and one hundred feet deep was all that was left of a certain lot belonging to a person who did not own the next lotion the street. The strip, while of little value by itself, would be valuable to the person owning the adjoining lot on Eighty-second Street, because it would not only enable him to give him windows all along the side of his house on Lexington Avenue. The two owners, however, could not agree as to terms, and a house was erected on the lot adjoining the narrow strip. The owner of the latter had nothing to do but to abandon his lot, or build a house five feet wide upon it. The latter course was, perhaps, adopted, because such a house would shut up all the side windows of the neighboring building, and considerably reduce its value.

The new building, which has been finished for some months, is therefore five feet wide, 100 feet deep, and four stories high. It is divided into two houses, each 50 feet long, and the entrance doors are, of course on the avenue, as there is no room for a door at the end of the building. The law allows a building at the corner of a street to have projecting bay windows along the side, and taking advantage of this circumstance, the architect has managed to plan a house which, while peculiar in inside appearance, and probably very uncomfortable to live in, may find tenants. Without these bay-windows or square projections running from the foundations to the roof it would not have been possible to build a house at all, for no room would have been wider than three feet. Each house has, therefore, two bay windows, in one of which are the stairs and in the other one room about eight feet wide by fifteen feet long, upon each floor. The long passage between the stairwell and the room is about three feet wide. Each house contains a kitchen eight by fifteen feet and four rooms, each of the same size, but on different floors. There are also ingeniously-placed closets at each end of the building and under the stairs. Both houses are unoccupied. One is offered for rent at $500 a year.

BOATING AT HARVARD.

WHAT THE VARIOUS CLASS CREWS ARE DOING.

Last Wednesday the Harvard crews were all on the water, and have rowed daily since. The smaller of the two fleets and a gangway have been pushed out from the class boathouse, but on Thursday at low tide, some of the crews were obliged to wade in getting their boats out of the water—a proceeding, in such a temperature as that of last week, not at all agreeable. An attempt was made to get the 'varsity boat-house float, which is now resting on the bank, into the river, but the tide was not high enough to float it. Curtis and Perkins are both rowing on the 'varsity again, but while he is able to row on a fixed seat, Curtis' hurt will not as yet allow him to row on a sliding seat without considerable pain. The crews take the water in unusually good form, and this is true in spite of the fact that its members have not rowed since last summer. They are in excellent condition, and with the exception of Curtis and Perkins, perfectly well. They use the paper barge built by Waters, and used by the 'varsity crews since 1879. On Friday, Gilmore's place, during a part of the row, was taken by S. I. Hutchin, '84, who has pulled on the hydraulics with the crew during the winter.

The class crews present a number of changes since last year. Eighty-two, who held the championship two years in succession, has graduated, and '83, who just missed winning in both of those years, hopes as their class is about to graduate, to lead the other crews, as they did in '80 when their rowing career began. Of their last year's crew, however, Borch, the captain, and Keith are not rowing; Belshaw is with the 'varsity and Perin, the stroke, is out of the country. E. R. Cabot, an ex-member of the 'varsity, is captain, and H. Cabot and Codman are new men. Coolidge, who rowed last year, is at stroke's place. The crew is using the old wooden barge built in '76 and is rowing well enough to justify the expectation of winning the class race.

The juniors have some new men in Kendall, Thoinbike and Penrose, and show better form than ever since their freshman year. Capt. Bryant is pulling stroke, and Bacon No. 7, white Goodwin, Bliss and Le Moyne are seated in the next three places.

The Sophomores have but three of the crew that pulled against Columbia—Keith, who is rowing stroke, Storrow, who takes McCook's place as captain, and is at No. 7, and Hansen, who is seated at No. 6. The remaining men, from No. 6 up, are: Thayer, Marsh, Homans, Sutton and Hills. Bowen, Bemis and Yocum are also three good men, who are coached by Capt. Storrow in a pair-oar. The form of the crew will be vastly superior to that of last year's.

The freshmen start out with a fair crew, having been at work since October last, and with some older oarsman to coach them almost constantly. They are in much better shape than are freshmen crews usually at this time of year, and promise to make a record while in college. The eight that has rowed for the past three days are as follows: Latham (bow), Vogle, Upham, Hartley, Hamlin, Boland (captain), Barnes, Harris (stroke). Gaute, Brown, Borden and two others, who began to work lately, are also candidates for a seat in the boat.

The sophomore crew has been at a training table for some weeks, and the 'varsity and freshmen will also take their meals together in a few weeks. During the Fast Day races the crews will remain in Cambridge to row. It is expected that the steam launch will be in use at an early day.

THE ARCTIC REGION.

THE SIGNAL SERVICE EXPEDITIONS.

There will be two expeditions sent into the Arctic regions this coming summer, from the Signal Service Bureau. The preparations are now going on under the direction of Captain Clapp, who, in an interesting chat with a Washington correspondent, explained the work which the United States has been carrying on in the north for some time past. Captain Clapp said that it was the desire of the Signal Service Bureau to have continued the Point Barrow station for a year longer, but the small appropriation granted by the last Congress rendered its abandonment an imperative necessity. Preparations are now being made to send a vessel from San Francisco in June next to aid this party, which consists of Lieut. J. H. Ray, of the Tenth Infantry, and eleven others, including the Esquimaux, providing that there has been no casualties.

The Point Barrow station was established in July, 1880, and since that time of course few communications have been received from those at work for the government. Prof. Hilgard, of the Coast Survey will detail one of his skilled observers to accompany this expedition, for the purpose of taking magnetic observations within the Arctic circle, and to make some interesting experimental with the pendulum at Point Barrow, but in case it is found impossible to make the necessary stay at this place, the observer will be left at some convenient point, where he can be taken off as soon as he has completed his work. No vessel has been selected for this expedition but it is very probable that the schooner Rush, which is very strong and especially adapted for Arctic work, will be chartered by the government if satisfactory terms can be made with her present owners.

The second expedition, will sail from St. John's, and will try to reach the Lady Franklin Bay party, which is under command of Lieutenant Greeley. This expedition will carry Lieutenant Garlington, a surgeon, and twelve men, and provisions sufficient to sustain forty people for fifteen months. The vessel, which will be either the Proteus or the Neptune, will go as far north as Littleton Cove, where, if it is found impossible to make a farther journey by sea, the ship will remain, and sledging parties will be sent to the imperiled party one hundred and seventy miles to the north. It is imperatively necessary that Lieutenant Greeley's party shall be brought back before next year, as his provisions will hold out beyond next fall, and in case that the ship does not arrive to aid him, an expedition will be equipped with improved sledges, life boats, and all the appliances which ingenuity can suggest, and will travel as rapidly as possible to Lady Franklin Bay.

Former expeditions have founded frequent stations on the line between Life Boat Bay and Lady Franklin Bay, which contain the necessaries of life, and it is very probable that at each of these points, a small detail of men will be left in order to form a continuous line of supplies from the vessel to the relief of the party in the extreme north. There will be no doubt but that Lieutenant Greeley will escape, as he has but one hundred and seventy miles to travel, and understands that in case aid does not reach him in the summer, that he must take advantage of the first young ice, and proceed to Life Boat Cove, where he has been assured that the government will have a vessel, and to fulfil this promise is the object of the expedition.

Captain Clapp, who has charge of these expeditions is using the greatest foresight in the selection of the miscellaneous cargoes which will be taken, and Gen. Hazen has left the entire matter in his hands. No better officer, or more genial gentleman could be selected for the difficult task, and his arrangements so far as completed show that there will be no failure, if human wisdom and experience count for anything, in attacking the vigor of an Arctic climate.

Whig & Courier.

BOUTELLE & BURR, PROPRIETORS.

C. A. BOUTELLE, EDITOR.

All business letters should be addressed to Boutelle & Burr, and communications intended for publication should be addressed: "Editor of Whig and Courier."

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 28, 1883.

A writer in the New York Tribune suggests that anti-polygamy should be made a permanent feature in the National Republican platform.

The most thrilling scenes ever enacted in the coal regions of this country attend the recovery of the corpses of the seventy-one buried miners at Braidwood, Ill., a crowd of weeping wives, mothers and orphans looking on. Meanwhile, rival county coroners are performing a melodrama, by quarreling for jobs and fees and demanding that a house be built in which they may hold an inquest. The tragedy seems to have been due to the composition of the soil, which was largely quicksand, and the formation of great lakes on the surface by powerful rains and melted snow. It is a relief to know that nobody is charged with carelessness.

Labor, wages and society in the coal and iron region of England are treated by Mr. Robert P. Porter in the eighteenth of his series of industrial letters to the New York Tribune. Mr. Porter visited the homes of the laborers in this region. The average tenement consists of a sitting-room, scullery and two bed-rooms. He made the most careful inquiries in regard to the actual earnings of the iron-workers, and found that the average earnings of "slaggers" was 4s. and 4d., or $1.04 a day; of "mine fillers" 4s. 3d., or $1.12; of "chargers" 5s. 3d. to 5s. 6d., or about $1.30 per day, and "keepers" 6s. 6d. to 7s., or $1.50 a day. Common laborers are paid 64 to 80 cents a day.

The Tribune says: A spasmodic revival of the Tilden boom is visible all over the country. The remembrance of his barrel still makes the Democratic mouth water, and the wish comes up for another campaign like 1876. The only impediment in the way of his nomination is his health. If this were good, the Atlanta Constitution says, no other candidate would stand the slightest show. Greater political surprises have happened than the nomination of Tilden in 1881 would be, and the Presidential campaign of that year, which has been looked forward to as probably a remarkably dull one, may yet be enlivened in that way. If the boom proceeds much further the Tribune may have to get out a new edition of its cipher pamphlet.

Two weeks have passed since Mr. Watterson heroically grabbed the protection bull by the horns, and not a word has been learned yet as to the result of the tussle. An anxious world is waiting with much impatience to know whether Watterson tossed the bull or the bull tossed Watterson. The long silence is evidently creating a belief that the contest left Mr. Watterson in no condition to chronicle the outcome. If he had accepted the advice of his neighbor across the Ohio river and taken the bull by the tail instead of by the horns the result would hardly have been so disastrous. But youth never will heed counsel. Mr. Watterson must now expect to hear the oft-told and oft-applied story about the boy who tickled the hind leg of a mule and was told by his father afterwards that in the future he would not be so handsome but he would know a great deal more.

THE UNION LEAGUE OF AMERICA.

A MEETING AT WHICH THE PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN IS DISCUSSED.

[Phila. Press, March 25.]

The sub committee of the Executive Committee of the Union League of America met at the Continental Hotel yesterday and discussed preliminary plans for the coming Presidential campaign. The canon on of the Republican party in the South was one of the principal subjects touched upon, and, as a number of the delegates were from that section, some vigorous speeches in opposition to Democratic methods were made. It was finally decided to have a number of meetings throughout the South during next fall and winter, and Atlanta was chosen as a good locality to hold the first one. The entire business of the meeting was summed up in a series of resolutions hoping for a speedy termination of the differences in the Republican party, recommending that special meetings of all committees be held to consider plans of permanent peace and harmony, and calling on the masses of the party to stand together to secure harmonious action, perfect organization and ultimate victory.

General Negley, president of the league, in speaking of its object, said that the necessity for its work, which had dropped out of sight with the settlement of questions fought out by the war, had become apparent again since differences had developed in the Republican party. It would now endeavor to advise the best plans of healing these differences and carrying on the party work without taking up the personal cause of any candidate. At present most of its efforts would be devoted to the South. There is, though," he continued, "a strong feeling among the more active members of the League that we ought to assume the aggressive, and in Pennsylvania, at least, a new organization will be formed, which will make itself felt in politics. It will be a branch of the league and will be secret in a measure at first, but it will not be so conservative in personal matters, and will be conducted on such a plane as to admit of decided work. The general meetings have not been held yet, but in about three weeks the organization will be so far completed that its system can be made public. Among those present at the meeting were Joseph H. Manley and C. A. Boutelle, of Maine; A. M. Clapp and William A. Cook, of Washington; E. W. M. Mackey, of South Carolina; W. P. Kennedy, of North Carolina, and C. H. Grosvenor, of Ohio.

THE CHANGING SOUTHLAND.

[From the Staunton Virginian (Rep.)]

The American policy of protection will become the Southern policy of protection, and the moss-backs and Bourbon theorists be driven from the political arena, to make way for the young life that is coming to the front to control and direct the destiny of the South. Now, when the South is just beginning to realize some of the practical benefits of the protective policy, it would be the baldest folly for the people to adhere to the obsolete notions on the tariff question which predominated in slavery times. We are, in effect, a new people, living under new conditions, looking to new pursuits, new methods, and new results. Railroads and furnaces and factories are changing the Southland—its theories, its policies, its pursuits, its needs and demands, and he who does not catch the inspiration and comprehend the situation, is not suited to the industrial era which is dawning upon our section, and shattering the idols of refining abstractionists and obstructive theorists.

A GRAND EVENT.

The Vanderbilt Party.

A New York dispatch to the Boston Herald, under date of the 26th inst., says: Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt's fancy ball, which has created such a stir and din of preparation in fashionable circles for a month and more, came to a gorgeous realization to-night. In lavishness of expenditure and brilliancy of dress it far outdid any ball ever before given in this city. Twelve hundred invitations had been issued, and few of the invited thought it worth while to miss an event which has never been paralleled here. It was a scene from fairy land, Mother Goose, the picture galleries, the courts and camps of Europe, Asia and opera bouffe. Audiboni's "Birds of America," heathen myths and Christian legends, and even from Mrs. Diedrich Knickerbocker's invaluable notes on the fashions in New York a long time ago. All the revel of color involved in such a catalogue moved, gleaming with newness, in a garden of flowers, under bright lights, to soft music from hidden instruments. It is only at a fancy dress ball that men make themselves really picturesque, and qualified voters, grave and gay, vied in the artistic quality and in the cost, as well, of their costumes, with the lovely women who adorned the evening.

The work of decoration and preparing Mrs. Vanderbilt's magnificent house for the ball went on all day. Wagon load after wagon load of palms and plants, drawn from conservatories all over the city, was delivered at the Fifty-second street entrance. Inside the house Mr. Klunder and several assistants were busy arranging the decorations. The final preparations at the houses of the guests threw Fifth and Madison avenues and the adjoining fashionable streets into a whirl. In the evening a stranger in the city would have noticed that something extraordinary was on foot. Carriages were flying about with unusual go, and there was much slamming of front doors, as hay pressers, milliners, costumers and other trades people were admitted or let out. Toward 10 o'clock muffled forms slid down from stoops and jumped into waiting carriages. The curious bystander caught a glimpse of bright color, or the flash of diamonds, or heard the clank of the swords striking the stone steps.

ARRIVAL OF THE GUESTS.

A wide awning extended from the front doors of the carved granite house at the northwest corner of Fifth avenue and Fifty-second street. The awning was carpeted and lighted by rows of Chinese lanterns. As the carriages rolled up, footmen in the Vanderbilt bottle green livery opened the doors, and, when the guests had disembarked, directed the coachman where to stand with his carriage. The great hall in the centre of the house was a blaze of light. In the day time this hall is so dark that the beauty of the exquisitely carved stone wainscoting and grooved ceiling are not brought out. The hall is about 65 feet long, 16 feet in height, and 120 feet in width. Under foot is a floor of polished and luminous Echaillon stone, and above a ceiling richly panelled in oak. Over a high wainscoting of Caen stone, richly carved are antique Italian tapestries, beautifully worked by hand. One of this hall to the right rises the grand stairway. It occupies a space of 30 feet square, the whole structure of the stairway being of the finest Caenstone, carved with wonderful delicacy and vigor. It climbs by ample easy stages a height of 50 feet, ending in a pendentive dome. Another stairway, also in Caenstone, leading from the second to the third story, is seen through a rampart arch with a fine effect. In the gymnasium on the third floor a beautiful apartment 50 feet in length by 35 in width, the members of the six organized quadrilles of the evening gradually assembled before 11 P. M. Lots were drawn on Saturday last by the ladies in charge of the quadrilles to decide the order in which they should be danced, it being previously agreed that the ball should be opened by the "Hobby Horse quadrille," a fantastic set, under the leadership of Mrs. S. S. Howland and Mr. James V. Parker, to which, by common consent, the privilege was assigned of filling the scene for five minutes and no more. The first place among

THE MORE PICTURESQUE QUADRILLES

was drawn by the "Mother Goose quadrille," under the leadership of Mr. Lawrence Perkins. At a little after 11 P. M., to the strains of Gilmore's band, the six quadrilles, comprising in all nearly 100 ladies and gentlemen, were formed in order in the gymnasium, and began to move in a glittering procession, pageant-like, down the grand stairway and through the hall, winding through the crowd of princes, monks, cavaliers, Highlanders, queens, kings, dairy maids, bullfighters, knights, brigands and nobles. The procession passed down the grand stairway through the hall into a front room in the style of Francis I., 25 feet in width by 40 in length, wainscoted richly and heavily in carved French walnut and hung in dark red plush. Vast carved cabinets and a immense deep fireplace give an air of antique grandeur to the room, from which the procession passed into a saloon of the style of Louis XV., 30 feet in width by 34 in length, wainscotted in oak and enriched with carved work and gilding. The whole wainscotting of this beautiful apartment was brought from a chateau in France. On the walls hung three French gobelin tapestries a century old, but in the brilliance and freshness of their colors, seemingly the work of yesterday, and over the chimney piece hangs a fine portrait of Mrs. Vanderbilt by Madrazo. The ceiling, painted by Paul Baury, represents the marriage of Cupid and Psyche. Thence the procession swept on into the grand dining hall, converted to-night into a ball room, and

THE DANCING BEGAN.

This dining room, which is of the length and width of the gymnasium, was superbly illuminated. It is 32 feet in height. The door and the ceiling are both in oak, richly panelled in similar designs. The lower wainscoting, seven feet in height, is of oak, richly carved, above which is a temporary wainscotting of a peculiar gilded tapestry, nine feet in height, and above that Caenstone which reaches the clerestory windows of stained glass that run all around the apartments. At one end of the room is a fireplace more than 20 feet in width, the lower part of which is of Caen stone and the upper of carved oak, and at the opposite end of the room is a music gallery, 18 feet from the floor. This gallery is usually lighted by fine Venetian chandeliers of gas, but to-night calcium lights filled the room with silvery splendor, which fell with extraordinary effect on Oudinet's great stained glass window directly opposite the grand doorway, representing the meeting of Henry VIII and Francis I. on the field of the cloth of gold. In all of these rooms and in the half acre staircase a wilderness of palm trees and banks of growing flowers hid many features of the decorations.

The guests had been busy for weeks planning the marvellous dresses that now filled the floors. Many were ordered from Worth, and it is said that foreign picture galleries were searched for models. All the fashionable costumers in the city were kept busy on the designs, many of them drawn by prominent artists. Great care was taken to avoid tribe costumes and over reduplication. Descriptions of all the dresses were submitted beforehand to Lady Mondeville, who took care that there should not be too many of one kind. Dramatic evening dresses were absolutely prohibited. The dancers of the "Hobby Horse Quadrille" first took the floor of the ballroom. Mrs. S. S. Howland organized it with the help of Mrs. Richard Irwin. Miss Robert and Mr. James V. Parker. The regular quadrilles danced were sixty in number. The workmen were two months in finishing the horses. They were of size, covered with genuine hides, had large bright eyes and flowing manes and tails, but were light enough to be easily and comfortably attached to the waists of the wearers, whose feet were concealed by richly embroidered hangings. Fifteen were represented on the outside of the blanket. The costumes were red hunting coats, white satin vests, yellow satin knee breeches and white satin stockings. The ladies wore red hunting coats and white satin skirts, elegantly embroidered, and all the dresses were in the style of Louis XIV.

THE Admiration OF THE WORLD, Mrs. S. A. Allen's WORLD'S Hair Restorer IS PERFECTION!

Public Benefactress. Mrs. S. A. Allen has justly earned the gratitude of thousands, for this day rejoicing over a fine head of hair produced by her unequaled preparation for restoring, invigorating, and beautifying the Hair. Her World's Hair Restorer quickly cleanses the scalp, removing Dandruff, and arrests the fall; the hair, tightly is changed to its natural color, giving it the same vitality and luxurious quantity as in youth.

COMPLIMENTARY. "My hair is now restored to its youthful color; I have not a gray hair left. I am satisfied that the preparation is not a dye, but acts on the secretions. My hair ceases to fall, which is certainly an advantage to me, who was in danger of becoming bald." This is the testimony of all who use Mrs. S. A. ALLEN'S WORLD'S HAIR RESTORER.

"One Bottle did it." Thirty-five years ago my hair was bald. Your preparation restored it to its natural color, and their bald spot covered with hair, after using one bottle. Mrs. S. A. ALLEN'S World's Hair Restorer. This not a dye.

A Sure Provision.
Reader, have you a wife whom you have promised to love, protect, and defend? Have you little children looking to you for parental care, shelter, food, clothing, and education? If so, let us urge upon you the importance of making a sure provision for them. Should death rob you of the personal care which you so much enjoy, it will be a blessing to the loved ones to receive a sum of money which you can in no way provide so surely and cheaply as in a policy of life insurance in a substantial company.—The Etna.

HOME COMFORT.
After a Rainy Ride, a Country Physician Tells What He Thinks of Some People.
"I wish to gracious some people would learn when they need a doctor and when they don't," exclaimed Doctor E——, as he entered his house in a cosey little village in the interior of the State of New York, after a tedious night ride of many miles. "I have been down among the mountains to see a man, who the messenger said, was very sick and not likely to live till morning, unless he had immediate help, and found him suffering from a rather sharp attack of colic, which his family might have relieved in ten minutes, if they had a grain of sense and two or three simple remedies in the house. But no; they must remain ignorant as pigs, and when the least ache or pain takes them, send for a doctor, whether they ever pay him or not."
"Why, Doctor, what kind of simple remedies, as you call them, do you expect people to keep in the house?" asked his wife, as she poured him a cup of hot tea.
"In this case," answered the Doctor, "if they had only put a BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER on the man's stomach, he would have been all right in an hour, and saved me a dreary ride."
In all ordinary complaints it cures at once.
All diseases are eliminated from the system by what may be roughly called expulsion or extraction, or by a union of the two processes. Benson's Plaster promotes both. It incites the torpid organs to act, and sends its healing, soothing influence through the myriad pores of the skin. All other plasters oblige the patient to wait. They give him hope for to-morrow. Benson's plaster gives him help to-day. Which is better, do you think? Buy the CAPCINE and keep it in the house. Price 25 cents.

THE NORMAL SCHOOL MATTER.

Meeting of the Citizens of Farmington.

FARMINGTON, March 27. A large and enthusiastic citizens' meeting was held last night to consider the decline of the Normal School here. Resolutions were adopted requesting the Governor and Trustees to investigate the case. The school has not been so prosperous in the number of students for years.

THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

Meeting of the Board of Missions.

BANGOR, March 27. The Board of Missions of the Episcopal church met here today. Most of the clergy of the diocese were present. To-night a class of twenty-five has been confirmed at Trinity church.

RAILROAD CONSOLIDATION.

The Lease of the Eastern to the Boston & Maine.

PORTLAND, March 27. The Directors of the Eastern Railroad met this evening and decided favorably upon the modification of the proposed lease to the Boston & Maine. The substance of the modifications is to the effect that in order to meet the questions raised in regard to dividends on the preferred stock the line on & Maine agrees to pay 6 per cent on such stock, thus leaving the question of the yearly addition of $100,000 to the sinking fund for the Eastern stockholders to settle with the trustees of the debt.

A NEW STEAMER TO BE BUILT

To Run Between Portland and Cuba.

PORTLAND, March 27. A steamer is to be built at Bath to run in the trade between Portland and Cuba. She will be of 1,200 tons and will carry passengers as well as freight. The company consists of Edmund W. H. Phinney, of Portland, Captain Cook, of Bath, and others.

FROM WASHINGTON.

General News.

Still Improving.

WASHINGTON, March 27. Secretary Davis's general symptoms are more favorable than for several days.

A Narrow Escape.

First Assistant Postmaster-General Hatton had a narrow escape Sunday afternoon from a serious accident. He was returning from a close carriage from a visit to the White House, when the horses, drawing the carriage took fright, and getting beyond the control of the driver, dashed down Vermont avenue at a terrible pace. Mr. Hatton threw open the door of the carriage and came out on the step, but did not jump. He directed the driver to guide the horses off the avenue to a less-frequented street. This the driver succeeded in doing, though he barely prevented the horses from running into a street-car. First-Assistant Hatton's funeral procession. He drove the horses for the open country by direction of Mr. Hatton, he jumped from up a steep hill, until they became managable from sheer exhaustion, when he turned and drove home.

Indictments Against Brady and Kellogg.

The grand jury this afternoon returned indictments against Thomas J. Brady for alleged action in connection with the Star Route frauds, one against Wm. Kellogg for unlawfully receiving money from Price in consideration of corrupt influence in the action of Brady in regard to his mail route, and one against Thos. J. Brady and Wm. Pitt Kellogg for conspiracy in connection with these same frauds.

The Star Route Trials.

In the Star Route trial Judge Wylie refused to allow examination of S. W. Dorsey, who was questioned concerning the testimony of Rerdell, whose statements he contradicted. He allowed Rerdell's statement concerning alleged conversation at Wallach's Hotel a blackmailing scheme.

Of Interest to Navigators.

It is stated at the office of the Light House Board that the new electric light near Gallet's Point, Hell Gate, will be made ready for use about the first of August next. The necessary ground has been cleared and the construction of the tower commenced.

Financial.

Notice is given that on Wednesday, April 19, 1882, and on each of the two following Wednesdays, bonds embraced in the 120th call will be redeemed at the Treasury Department to the amount of $5,000,000, with interest to date of payment.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

A Wife Murderer.

CONCORD, March 27. The coroner's jury in the death of Mrs. Michael Wilan returned a verdict that she came to her death by blows inflicted by her husband.

ILLINOIS.

Shocking Carelessness.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 27. The Tribune special report five fatalities from shooting at Lexdale, near Bloomington, Sunday. Two children of John Hershty were mortally wounded by one of their brothers. At Tacoma, Wis., Monday, a son of John Mayer, aged 11, fired a rifle at his brother and sister, aged 11 and 5 killing the girl and fatally wounding the boy.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Guests of the City of Boston.

BOSTON, March 27. The Malgassy embassy arrived in this city at 9 P. M. They were met by a representative of the Mayor and driven to the Tremont House, where they stay the remainder of the night. To-morrow they visit Salem in the forenoon, Harvard College in the afternoon, and will be tendered a reception in the evening.

THE CONKLING CASE.

The Respondent Discharged.

NEW YORK, March 27. After hearing the arguments relative to the shooting and killing of Wm. H. Haverstick by Geo. W. Conkling, Jr., in Vienna flats, the 19th inst., Police Justice Smith late this afternoon rendered a decision. The Court says there were reasonable grounds for the defendant apprehending grievous bodily harm at the hands of the deceased, and discharged Conkling from custody. The announcement was received with applause by the spectators. The testimony submitted to the Court was that taken at the coroner's inquest.

THE JEANNETTE SURVIVORS.

Their Arrival in New York.

NEW YORK, March 27. The steamer Westphalia, which arrived this morning, had as passengers Ensign Henry J. Hunt, who belonged to the Rodgers, Herbert Woodreach, James H. Bartlett, John Lavrisch and Frank Manson, survivors of the Jeannette party. They were officially received by Chief Engineer Melville. Engineer Hunt states: "We are all well and hearty. Starved an Auneguin Indian at Erinish; with that exception we had no trouble of any kind. We traveled all the way from Belloe, at the month of the Lena, in sledges 4,000 miles, but were delayed six weeks by the Indian's sickness and death. Lieuts. Harber and Schwatka stayed behind to bring back the bodies of Capt. DeLong and nine companions. They will now have arrived near Yakutsk. We may expect them in about ten weeks." The party will probably remain here until Thursday and then go to Washington where they will testify before the Jeannette Inquiry Committee.

THE INDIANS.

Depredation in New Mexico.

TUCSON, A. T., March 27. Advices from Richmond, N. M., state that Indians attacked the camp of Palmer & Emerick, ten miles east of York's Ranche, at three o'clock yesterday. Jack Haynes and a stranger were killed. John Emerick is missing and supposed to have been killed. The other men in the camp escaped to York's Ranche. The military line between this point, Fort Bayard and Fort Cummings has been abandoned. It is reported that a large band of Indians are secreted in the mountains north of York's Ranche.

Another Despatch.

RICHMOND, N. M., March 27. George Parks, just arrived, reports that the Indians attacked Irving's station, seven south of York's, killing five men.

The Details.

WASHINGTON, March 27. The following telegram was received to-day from Whipple Barracks, A. T., to Secretary Teller:

The outrages just reported have been committed by a small raiding party of Chiricahua Apaches coming back from Mexico where they have been living since they left here a year ago. Up to the present moment seven persons are known to have been killed on one side of the boundary. Troops are in pursuit. So far as the treats made by the people of Tombstone are concerned, I am in full sympathy with them and should be glad to learn that the last of the Chiricahuas was under ground. They are an incorrigible lot. Ten years ago when other Apache bands were whipped on to their reservation the Chiricahuas were specially exempted by the Government from this same subjugation. Since then it is believed that they have killed not less than 1,000 persons in this country and in Mexico. They are constantly trying to stir up mischief among the agency Indians, and so long as they can run back and forth across the border this Territory and Mexico must look out for trouble. They are the worst band of Indians in America. The agency Indians are behaving well. Not one has left San Carlos and their assistance can be relied on in case all the Chiricahuas return, as they may, if pressed by the Mexican troops or desire of plunder.

(Signed) GEORGE CROOK,
Brigadier General.

Secretary Teller's Reply.

Secretary Teller in reply telegraphed: Your telegraph received for which accept my thanks. I agree with you that the negro cavalry must be subjugated or destroyed. The interest of the whites and peaceable Indians demand this.

Two More Deaths.

LOUISBURG, N. M., March 27. A despatch from Richmond, N. M., gives intelligence of the killing of two more men, making a total of nine whites who have been killed in the vicinity of Richmond during the past 24 hours. Capt. Beach and his company of Shakspeare guards will leave to-night for Richmond and Gila with about 30 men.

It is reported the Indians number 100. Grave fears are entertained for the safety of settlers in the Gila valley and there is a possibility of an attack being made on the laborers along the line of the Clifton Railroad.

HANLAN AND KENNEDY.

How They Progress in Their Training on the Potomac River.

WASHINGTON, March 27. The appearance of Fred Plaisted in Washington a few days after the arrival of Edward Hanlan was a surprise not only to boating men, but more especially to Hanlan and Kennedy. The Toronto oarsman conjectured that Plaisted had come on here to look after Kennedy in his training and practice and Kennedy surmised that the down East oarsman had been sent for by Hanlan. Plaisted is friendly with both men and his jocose sayings serve to make him a pleasant fellow to company, but he cannot get the full confidence of either Hanlan or Kennedy until his mission and purpose are known. The truth is, no doubt, that Plaisted has come to Washington to get the "tip" on the boat race which is to occur on the 30th of May, and, perhaps, to prepare himself for some of next season's regattas. He has not yet begun training, and, to quote Hanlan, "he was devouring a big steak at Kennedy's restaurant this afternoon while I was out rowing." Plaisted says he intends to send on his entry for the regatta at Pullman in June. He was asked what races he would enter for at Pullman, and his reply was: "All of them—especially the consolation races." Kennedy was out on the river about 2 o'clock Monday afternoon and rowed about four miles. After breakfast that morning Hanlan took a five-mile walk at a moderately brisk pace, and subsequently had a six-mile row on the Potomac. That afternoon he took another long walk and again went on the river at 4 o'clock and had six miles of water exercise, rowing at a moderate pace most of the distance, and occasionally putting on a spurt and feeling his pace. He is in the best of spirits, and is pleased with his improvement. He has recently heard from Lee and Peter Duryea as to the proposed double-scull race, but he is not prepared to give Hamm and Conley definite answer until he hears from Boyd. His greatest desire now is to bring Rose to the starting line, and, until he is assured that the St. John oarsman will either row or cease talking, he will not enter into negotiations for other matches.

THE LATE POSTMASTER GENERAL MOWE.

Funeral Arrangements for the Funeral.

MILWAUKEE, March 27. The following gentlemen will act as pall bearers at the funeral of Postmaster General Howe: Chief Justice Cole, Gov. Rusk, Secretary Lincoln, Secretary Teller, Hon. Horace Rublee, of the Milwaukee Sentinel, Senator Sawyer, Hon. Frank W. Hatton and Senator Cameron. Rev. Robert Collyer, of New York, and Rev. H. M. Simons, of Minneapolis, are expected to act as officiating clergymen. A plaster cast of his face was taken last evening.

Another Despatch.

KENOSHA, March 27. Mrs. Totten and Frank Howe arrived this morning from Washington. Rev. H. M. Simmons arrived from Minneapolis this evening, and Rev. Robert Collyer is expected to-night. A dispatch from Madison states that the entire Legislature and all State officers will here to-morrow, including 150 persons. A special train has been placed at their disposal which will arrive here in the morning. The citizens' committee from Green Bay will reach here to-morrow at 1 P. M. A delegation of 45 will be in attendance at the funeral.

ANNUAL MEETING

Of the Bell Telephone Company.

BOSTON, March 27. The annual meeting of the stockholders of the American Bell Telephone Company was held to-day. The following officers were elected: Directors, Francis Blake, Charles P. Bowditch, Charles S. Bradley, George L. Bradley, Channing Clapp, Alexander Cochrane, Wm. H. Forbes, Charles Eustis Hubbard, Gardiner G. Hubbard, Robert B. Forbes, Wm. J. Sampsell, Thomas Sanders; Treasurer, William B. Driver; Clerk, Charles Eustis Hubbard. The report of the Treasurer to March 23 showed the total earnings of the past year were $1,031,031; the previous year $1,001,934; the expenses of the past year were $603,987; the year previous $439,882. The underground wires in Boston have been found to transmit distinctly only for short distances, and it will be necessary to devise further improvement before they can be made available to any extent. It was voted that the capital stock will be increased from $7,300,000 to $8,800,000 and that the new shares will be allowed on the basis of one new share to each holder of the old one.

CONNECTICUT.

A Small Verdict.

NEW HAVEN, March 27. The case of A. R. Halliday vs. the Winchester Arms Company, in which an action was brought to recover $10,000 for injuries received from an explosion of cartridges in the Armory, in July, 1877, was to-day decided by Judge Beardsley, and the plaintiff was awarded a verdict of $50 and costs.

THE WEATHER.

WAR DEPT., OFFICE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER, Washington, D. C., March 27—6 A. M.

Lady Florence Dixie Renews Her Charges.

NEW YORK, March 27. A communication appears in the New York Times from Lady Florence Dixie, in which she renews her attack upon the Land League and reaffirms her charges of fraud in the management of the Land League funds. She declares that she is the tool of no one, but that her action is influenced solely by a desire to open the eyes of all honest men to the hideous reality of what the Land League really is. If Egan can clear himself of suspicion let him do so, she says; but at the same time he must present some thing more than his bare assertion to refute these charges. No one believes him, and until he has proved beyond doubt that these charges are false, he is neither cleared nor exonerated from what she has said against him in regard to the expenditure of the Land League fund.

His death will be deeply felt by the entire community. He was a graduate of the Eastern Normal School at Castine and of the Maine State College at Orono in the class of '76. He leaves a wife and one child to mourn his untimely loss. His remains were taken to Castine for interment, accompanied by his wife, child, sister and brother-in-law.

DEATH OF A STERLING MAN. A Corinna correspondent writes: On Sunday morning, March 25th, Francis G. Robinson, brother of Hon. A. M. Robinson, of Dover, and father of Wm. M. Robinson, Esq., of Houlton, one of the early settlers of Corinna, died at his residence in that town. Mr. Robinson was a man of sterling integrity and an uncompromising enemy of all wrong. He was one of the first to join the anti-slavery party, and one of its boldest supporters. He twice represented the class towns of Dexter and Corinna in the State Legislature and has long been a worthy member of the masonic fraternity. He was buried with masonic honors on Tuesday last by Peacheco Lodge, of Dexter, and Parian Lodge, of Corinna, a large number of the brothers attended his funeral. He was a genial, warm-hearted man, always had a pleasant word for every one and had a great number of friends. Corinna loses a most valuable citizen; his age was 71.

SUDDEN DEATH OF HON. CHAS. STETSON.

The Close of a Long and Eventful Business Career.

The hand of death has visited this community and removed from our midst one of the most prominent and best esteemed citizens of Bangor, Hon. Charles Stetson, who passed peacefully away at his residence on Broadway, about 7:30 o'clock, yesterday morning.

The termination, coming without warning, was entirely unexpected by his family and friends, and accordingly it was a very severe shock to them. At his advanced age and with his health in a feeble state, it was supposed that for him the end of life was near, but there were no special foreboding of the rapid approach of that time. During Monday evening he walked, although with difficulty, up the stairs while going to his chamber, and within fifteen minutes of the time of his death he walked across his room and into the hallway. During the past few days he had not felt quite as well as in the past, but no special alarm was felt. The physician ascribes no particular disease and it was doubtless the gradual dissolution of a long and busy life.

The deceased was born in New Ipswich, New Hampshire, Nov. 7th, 1801, and was accordingly in his 82nd year at the time of his demise. In 1803 his father removed to the Penobscot and settled at Hampden, and the subject of this sketch, who was then an infant, came at that time to Maine. The father was a prominent trader of the early time and was largely interested in commerce; he was very prominent in commercial life at the time of and after the war of 1812. Of the children Charles was the oldest, and the only one now remaining since his demise is Hon. George Stetson, a much respected citizen and President of the First National Bank. Another son, Hon. Isaiah Stetson, long a prominent business man of this city, died several years ago.

The subject of this sketch graduated from Yale College when about 20 years of age and returned to Hampden where he studied law with John Godfrey, Esq., father of Judge Godfrey, of this city. He then opened a law office at Hampden and practiced there several years when he finally removed to Bangor and took up his residence here, continuing the practice of his profession. In 1834 he assumed the duties of Municipal Judge, being the first to hold that position, Bangor having been incorporated as a city that year. He continued to preside over the Municipal Court until 1839 when he resigned to accept the position of Clerk of Courts, which office he filled for several years. In 1843-4 he served in the Common Council as a member from Ward 5. For two terms he was a member of the Executive Council, under Gov. John W. Dana, serving with Gen. Franklin Smith, of Waterville, who still survives at about the same age as Mr. Stetson.

In 1848 he was elected a member of Congress as a Democrat and he served in the U. S. House of Representatives one term from 1849 to '51, in the 31st Congress. Since the close of his Congressional career he has not actively practiced the profession of law, but has devoted himself to the care of his large private affairs. As a lawyer he was particularly versed in all matters pertaining to real estate and he made that quite a specialty, his services being especially sought by persons desiring legal information on that and kindred subjects. He was possessed of a very fine library and devoted much time to reading, being of quite a literary taste. Since the formation of the Republican party he has acted with that political organization. In religion his views were of the Unitarian belief.

He has been very prominently identified with the business interests of this vicinity and his estate is of very large dimensions. He possessed a very large amount of blocks, stores, tenements and land in the city and was unquestionably the largest real estate owner in the city. He was quite largely interested in timber lands with his brothers, George and Isaiah. He has always been a director in the Merchants National Bank and the Bangor Gas Light Company and was a stockholder in numerous corporations. At the time of his decease he was the largest individual owner in the European & North American Railway.

He married Emily Jane, the daughter of Waldo Pierce, of Frankfort, and she survives him. There are eight children living, as follows: Charles P. Stetson, Esq.; Emily Jane, now Mrs. James S. Brown, of Milwaukie, Wis.; Anna W. Stetson; Caroline S., now Mrs. Franklin A. Wilson; Frances A. Stetson; Franklin Stetson, of the firm of Hayford & Stetson, of St. John; Ada F., now Mrs. John C. Holman, of Boston, and Hayward Stetson, at present studying medicine in Boston at the Harvard Medical School.

Although having reached the advanced age of more than four score years he continued to attend to his large business interests, but during the last four or five months these labors have been performed by him with difficulty. He lived to a mature age and in the fullness of years was gathered to his fathers, like ripened fruit. For his many excellent traits he was held in eminent respect by all who became associated with him and the memory of Hon. Charles Stetson will long be cherished in this community, where he will be greatly missed.

The time of the funeral will be hereafter announced.

AMUSEMENTS.

Handel Concert.

A season of very profitable instruction to the members of the Handel Association, under the talented directorship of Prof. White, of Boston, was brought to a close last evening with a concert at City Hall. Owing to the fact that the weather was inauspicious the attendance was much below what the excellence of the entertainment merited. The following programme was presented.

PROGRAMME.

PART FIRST.

Chorus—Sing O Heaven ..... Tours.
Duet—O Sole Mio ..... Wiegand.
Mr. Patten, Mr. Roberts.
Song—Sometimes ..... Sullivan.
Miss Hodgdon.
Solo for Cornet ..... Selected.
Mr. R. B. Hall.
Solo—Aria from Il Trovatore ..... Verdi.
Mrs. Shaw.
Chorus—Pilgrim Chorus ..... Verdi.

PART SECOND.

Solo and Chorus—Hear My Prayer ..... Mendelssohn.
Miss Blaisdell.
Quartette—Little Jacky Horner ....
Mrs. Shaw, Miss Sweet, Mr. Patten, Mr Moody.
Song—It is I ..... Pinsuti.
Mr White.
Solo and Ladies' Chorus—Ave Maria ..... Mendelssohn.
Mrs. Shaw.
Song—In the Gloaming ....
Mr. Lunt.
Solo, Quintette and Chorus—from 42d Psalm ..... Mendelssohn.
(Solo) Mrs. Crowell.

The chorus was large, well balanced and showed evidence of careful drill, demonstrating that the weekly rehearsals have been productive of much good. The duet by Messrs. Patten and Roberts was rendered very effectively. Miss Hodgdon has a rich musical voice and appeared to advantage. Mr. R. B. Hall is always a favorite, and, encored, executed "Palm Branches" with his usual power. Mrs. Shaw was in admirable voice and sang with fine power, giving an artistic and brilliant rendering of a very difficult selection; recalled most enthusiastically she sang "No, Sir." Miss Blaisdell was warmly received and gave with fine effect a solo, accompanied by the chorus. The humorous song by the quartette was an interesting feature of the evening and was repeated in response to applause. Prof. White gave a fine song, which was heartily applauded and Yeoman's Wedding Song was brilliantly rendered by him. The solo by Mrs. Shaw, accompanied by a ladies' chorus, was well received. Mr. Lunt gave a spirited rendition and when encored sang "Pleasant Memories." The brilliant solo by Mrs. Crowell, accompanied by a quartette composed of Messrs. Patten, Ray, Roberts and Farrington brought the attractive concert to a close. Prof. White officiated with rare skill as director and Miss May Lincoln presided very satisfactorily at the piano during the choruses, while the solo accompaniments were given artistically by Miss Abby N. Garland, with the exception of that for Mr. Lunt, which was played by Mr. Geo. Boyd.

"Tuesday Evening Series."

The "Tuesday evening series," at United Fellowship Hall, opened last evening in a very auspicious manner before an appreciative audience. Nearly every number was encored, and the artistic rendering of the great variety of selections were highly praised by all present. The following comprised the original programme: Piano recital, "Meadow Dance," by Miss Katie Perkins; vocal selection, "Thoughtless Words," by Miss Hasty; cornet solo, "Blue Bells of Scotland," by Mr. Frank Tuck; reading, "Mark Twain's first interview with Artemas Ward," by Prof. Rice; comic vocal duet, by Mildred Varnum and Lena Stockton; song, "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," the singer accompanying herself upon the guitar, by Miss Frances Jaques; piano duett, "Waves of the Ocean," by Misses Flanders and Wyer; reading, "Out of the Old House, Nancy," by Prof. Rice; guitar solo, "Fandango," by Miss Jaques; piano recital, "Mocking Bird," by Miss Perkins; reading, "A Few Chew Duett," by Prof. Rice; piano recital, by Miss Flanders. On next Tuesday evening a very interesting stereopticon entertainment will be presented, consisting of a descriptive lecture, "Across America," illustrated by eighty beautiful dissolving views.

Assyrian Themes.

Mrs. Abba Goold Woolson gave the second lecture in her series of historical addresses at Unity Hall, yesterday afternoon, before an audience of good numbers and thoroughly appreciative. Her subject was "Assyrian Themes," and it was a continuation and elaboration of the ideas outlined at the opening lecture. The audience gave close attention and were favored with very entertaining remarks. The next lecture will be given on Friday afternoon; subject, Babylon and Babylonian Themes.

Margaret Mather.

The sale of seats yesterday for Margaret Mather's appearance next Friday evening was unprecedented in the history of the Opera House. The sale opened at eight o'clock in the morning, and at a quarter past ten, every seat in the house below the upper gallery had been disposed of, and many of our best people disappointed in not getting orchestra or balcony seats, commenced taking places in the gallery. There are still good seats in this part of the house, and those who do not want to be content with standing room, should make early application for the remaining gallery seats. The audience on Friday evening will be, probably, the most brilliant, one the Opera House ever contained.

THE CENTRAL CONGREGATIONAL PARISH.

Rev. Geo. W. Field, D. D., Granted a Vacation of One Year.

The parish meeting at the Central Congregational Church last evening drew out an attendance of unusual proportions, notwithstanding the falling rain, which made it a most disagreeable night to be out.

The meeting was called to order at 7:30 o'clock by Mr. A. H. Roberts, chairman of the Parish Committee. Rev. George W. Field, D. D., then addressed the meeting, alluding to the happy life he had passed among this people and recalled the fact that nineteen years ago that day he was ordained their pastor and that he had now preached from their pulpit for twenty consecutive years. The past year he had been obliged to work quite hard and he now felt the need of rest, and he thought that he would like a longer vacation than usual. He had entertained a desire to make a trip to Europe this summer and he thought he would like to extend this tour into the fall, but would leave this latter with the parish to decide, with the understanding that he should receive no salary while absent.

Upon the completion of his remarks Rev. Dr. Field retired and Mr. Roberts called Hon. J. S. Wheelwright to the chair as Moderator of the meeting. Mr. Wheelwright made some preliminary remarks, and then Joab W. Palmer, Esq., arose and moved that Dr. Field be allowed a vacation of one year and that his salary be continued. C. F. Woodard, Esq., in seconding the motion, remarked that the rest offered Mr. Field was not only best but they could not afford to do otherwise. When he first accepted the pastorate it was agreed to give him three months vacation each year, and he had never taken the whole of the amount excepting one year. A vote was then taken on the motion and it was given a unanimous passage, and a committee consisting of J. W. Palmer, C. F. Woodard, W. S. Dennett and J. S. Wheelwright were appointed to await upon Dr. Field after the meeting and notify him of the action taken.

The rental of pews then took place, Mr. C. S. Pearl officiating as auctioneer, and the pews sold about the same as last year.

A HAPPY TIME.

One of the most successful dancing parties of the season occurred at Music Hall last evening when the Ladies' Select Class tendered Mr.

THE RUSSIAN TELESCOPE.

The Largest Object-Glass in the World.

Through the kind invitation of Messrs. Alvan Clark & Sons (writes a contributor to the Providence Journal) a small party of observers from this city paid a visit to Cambridgeport for the purpose of beholding the starlit heavens through the largest and best refracting telescope in the world. For these famous telescope-makers, have recently completed an object-glass thirty inches in diameter for the Pulkowa observatory, the Russian government making a contract with them for an objective that should exceed in size and perfection of workmanship any other instrument of the kind in the world. In order to test the working qualities of the object-glass a trial mounting has been erected in the yard of the work-shop, with dimensions corresponding to the magnitude of the great objective. This temporary structure consists of a pair of solid masonry twenty-seven feet in height, to which is firmly fixed, with various joints, hinges and movements, a sheet-iron tube made in three sections.

THE TUBE IS FORTY-FIVE FEET

in length and forty inches in diameter. Nothing is more essential to the success of astronomical observation than the weather and nothing is more uncertain. The mild winter day had been almost perfect in its conditions, a clear sunshine, a cloudless sky, a gorgeous sunset. But as he sun sank below the horizon, a fierce wind arose.

When this subsided, it was succeeded by an intense cold that made it no pastime to be out in the open air. The members of the observing party, however, nothing daunted, take their places under the stars. The expanse of heaven presents a scene of exceeding beauty. The sky is unflecked by a single cloud, the crisp, cold atmosphere is free from a breath of moisture. A suspicion of twilight still lingers in the west, the slender crescent of the new moon, only a day old, holds in her arms the old moon with an outline of remarkable distinctness, and the zodiacal light extends its cone of pale gold high up toward the zenith. The stars swarm in the dark dome arching above us, as they twinkle and glitter in the frosty air. The brightest star, the most superb clusters that spangle the firmament are included in the grand procession.

THE PRINCELY JUPITER

marshalling the host. Rising from an unbroken surface of snow and looming up in the blackness of night with ghostlike stateliness, the huge telescope seems to pierce the skies, and dwarf to Lilliputian dimensions the observers at its base. We are impressed with the sublimity and grandeur of the twinkling mysteries that people the sky depths. We feel that we are on consecrated ground. For on this spot, Mr. Alvan Clark, the younger, while testing an object glass, made in 1862 one of the great discoveries of the century, the companion of Sirius. Here, too, the great Washington telescope was housed in 1873, and has made itself illustrious by bringing in view in 1877, the two moons of Mars. There is reason, therefore, to hope that the instrument on which we are now looking with its larger children, and under the skilful handling of Otto Struve, will become even more famous on astronomical records.

But we are recalled from our far away visit among the shining orbs, by the announcement that the telescope is ready for action. Object glass, eye piece and other required appurtenances are in position and the great eye is pointed to the planet Saturn. The transformation is like

A VISION OF FAIRY LAND.

The pale star lon which, a moment since, we had looked with the unaided eye is now a creation of surpassing loveliness, the most charming telescopic object the heavens reveal. Saturn, his rings and moons are before us. The disc, a golden sphere crossed by faint cloud bands of a delicate creamy tint, the wonderful rings softly shading the planet, seven of the eight moons, beaming from the dark background of the sky. Titan, the largest moon, showing a perceptible disc, take up the shining picture.

Every detail of the magnificent and complex Saturnian system is complete. The shadowy cloud-bands on the disc, the outer ring, with its faint line of division; the dusky rift between the outer and inner rings; the second or inner ring; the third or crepe ring closely joined to the second, and the trenk in the rings formed by the shadow of the planet. There is, however, an imperfection in the view. The definition is not perfect, a most important element where planets are concerned. It would seem that telescopes of such dimensions should magnify objects in proportion to the size. But such is not the case.

SATURN LOOKS BUT LITTLE LARGER

than in a smaller glass, though much brighter. For the great telescopes collect and concentrate all the light that falls upon them, and herein lies their power. The coloring of the picture is exquisite. The glorious orb, its surface resplendent with liquid gold, is crossed by a central band of creamy white and flecked with spots of delicate prismatic hues, and the rings are variously variegated in color, the inner most being of a rich purple. The planet seems almost to stand upright within the encircling rings, only a small portion being visible beneath them. We are fortunate in seeing him under a very favorable aspect for his rings are opening wider, his northern declination is increasing, and he is approaching perihelion. These conditions will culminate in 1887.

Jupiter is then next object to test the space-annihilating glass. The Prince of Planets is superb, larger than the full moon, though but little larger than we have seen him many times in a telescope of eight inches aperture. Here, however, much brighter, on account of the light-collecting power of the glass. Though by no means as magnificent as Saturn, he far exceeds him in mass and volume, and, as he is twice as near, we see him on a much larger scale. The giant of the system rises on grand proportions, the flood of light radiating his surface brings out every minute detail in coloring, suffused with pale rose, mottled with soft gray, purple, brown, and delicate green. We have seen Jupiter when the definition was much more perfect, but never with the variety of tint and tone we behold this night; never before did he seem so near, so grand in proportions, so symmetrical in equipoise. His four satellites are in line on his left, and bear witness to the power of the telescope by presenting discs instead of points. We find it difficult to decide which of the two pictures is the more beautiful. Saturn is more magnificent, more complex, more curious, but Jupiter is more majestic, more like the great sun himself.

We have time for only one more view, and this is to be the great nebula of Orion. But the cold has congealed the oil, and the monster refuses to move. His eye is turned to the meridian and no effort will make him swerve. In this emergency a member of the party volunteers to mount to the top of the pier and lubricate with fresh oil the joints of the giant. The plan is successful, and with many a groan the lower end of the tube rises, the upper end falls, until the Cyclopean eye points to the Orion nebula. In a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, the little wisp of cloud haze around the star in the sword of the Mighty Hunter that is visible to the unaided vision, becomes one of the most glorious spectacles that ever breaks upon the entranced eye of an observer.

The most wonderful nebula the northern skies reveal to us, filling the field of view, and suffused with a celestial light of the holy city that had "no need of the sun, neither the moon to shine in it; for the glory of God did lighten it." The delicacy of pervading the scene is beautiful beyond expression. The central point of interest is the famous trapezium consisting of four bright stars and two smaller ones. Around this sextuple group, radiate what seem to be the head and branching horns of some huge animal, the trapezium occupying its open mouth, and surrounding a space of sky within which reigns the blackness of darkness, unilluminated by the suspicion of a star.

Spiral curves of nebulous haze fill in the field of vision, the radiating mass being of a delicate green tint, while dotted over the shadowy haze, and mingling with it in mysterious union, are numerous bright stars, imparting an element of life to the formless void, and helping to light up this scene of indescribable grace and grandeur, which no pencil may paint, no words describe. The fascinating picture holds us spell-bound. We realize the power of the mighty piece of mechanism that brings to our eyes this amazing creation of distant space, this incomprehensible blending of stars and star dust. Definition is of little consequence in observing the shadowy nebulæ. Light is the element needed, and nearly every ray that falls upon the great objective is faithfully transmitted to the observing eye.

Imagination seeks in vain to fathom

THE MYSTERY OF MYSTERIES,

this chaotic mass so beautifully fashioned, this lovely blending of tints of gold and delicate green, this flood of light that started from distant space hundreds of years ago, this spiral form that reveals the quickening pulse of material life. We feel, as we gaze upon the celestial scene, that we are standing on the threshold of the golden portal that separates the earthly from the heavenly. We have a glimpse of the glory to be revealed.

The Russian objective will soon be transported to its destination in the Pulkowa Observatory, founded by the Czar Nicholas, and overlooking the city of the Czars from its lofty position on the Pulkowa hills, nine miles south of St. Petersburg. We shall reverently behold the wonders of the sky through its great object-glass, but long as life endures we shall remember the time when we beheld, irradiated by its high-colorful power, and brought nearly by its great eye, the magnificence of Saturn, the grandeur of Jupiter and the awe-inspiring combination of beauty, mystery and shadowy form of the Great Nebula of Orion.

THE VERY BEST

Brown Old Government Pedang Java

COFFEE.

We have been at work for some time trying to find the most promising Old Java coffee, and have held samples from a number of New York and Boston importers, which we have roasted and drank, and at last, after a great deal of care, we believe we have secured the best we ever owned, and our Pedang Coffee is as fine as ever brought to Bangor. We have purchased of his lot 65 Pockets--4,335 Lbs.

And shall retail it at the following prices

Raw, 25 Cents per lb.

Roast, 30 Cents per lb.

No doubt you can buy Java Coffee as low, or perhaps at lower prices than we offer this, but all we ask is to have you try a pound of ours and compare the quality with the best price Java. There are lots of Pale Jayna being sold, that are not as good flavored as good Maracaibo Coffee. The Old Government Pedang Java Coffee is nearly as good as lots of Mandehling Java (which are the best Javas grown) now in the market. We roast all our Coffee ourselves at our mill, two or three times a week and guarantee fresh roasted Coffee at all times, and warrant it to suit or it can be returned and the money will be refunded.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

HALL'S

Vegetable Sicilian

HAIR RENEWER

Was the first preparation perfectly adapted to cure diseases of the scalp, and the first successful restorer of faded or gray hair to its natural color, growth, and youthful beauty. It has had many imitators, but none have so fully met all the requirements needful for the proper treatment of this most delicate portion of the human system. Its wonderful success has not been attributed to puffing, but its success to every purchaser of the article, its unparalleled success can be attributed to but one cause, the entire fulfillment of its promises.

The proprietors have often been surprised at the receipt of orders from remote countries, which should never have been made for want of a trial introduction. The use for a short time of HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER wonderfully improves their personal appearance. It cleanses the scalp from all impurities, cures all humors, fever, and dryness, and thus prevents baldness. It stimulates the weakened glands, and enables them to push forward a new and vigorous growth. The effects of this article are not transient, like those of pretentious preparations, but remain a long time, and thus makes its use a matter of economy.

A YOUNG OLD LADY.

"Yes, Sir! I'm Younger than any of my Children now," said Mrs. Sarah M. Robinson, of Old Williams St., New Haven, Conn. "We need about this time to put on our Goulds, but I seldom use them so Society.

"Yes, Sir, I'm younger than any of my children now. I keep up with the times, read the papers, applaud the victories of old Yale, and don't grow old, were the words of Mrs. Robinson to your reporter when he called at her home. Mrs. Robinson is one of the oldest, goodness sake! aged ladies, of whom you read, but whom you so rarely find in modern society. "I've had my share of trouble," she said, "for all my life I've been a sufferer from erysipelas. From this has resulted diseased stomach and inaction of the digestive organs. I've been troubled with dyspepsia, and have had such a weakness of the stomach it has seemed as if I needed something artificial said strengthening. I attribute this to erysipelas, which is constitutional with me. I've been under the physician's care great deal during my life, but I never received by permanent benefit I think until I began taking Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, which has proved a perfect restorative in my case. My health is better now than it has been for a long time. I consider Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY to be an excellent medicine. It is used extensively in this city. I keep it as a family medicine, and rely upon it for it knew of the good results in using it."

Mrs. Robinson is rejoicing in health and renewed youth, and heartily endorses praise on that which is the source of happiness to them, viz. Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY. Ask your druggist for it. Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY has become a household word. Everybody, sooner or later, tells the truth, and says it is both wholesome and costly. FAVORITE REMEDY, stands at this point. It is not expensive and is sufficient for all diseases of the Blood, Bilious Disorders, Kidney complaints, Constipation, and the aches and ills which make the domestic life of women a cross so hard to bear.

RUBBER

BELTING.

Important to all who use Belting.

We have just patented a new Article in Rubber Belting, which is sold under the name of GIANT BELTING.

This Belting is made up with the usual plies of Duck and Rubber, and before putting on the outside cover, it is SKIVED in seams one inch apart, with cotton cord, which has a pulling strength of fifty pounds. It is then STRETCHED on its plastic state, carrying the plies so close together, that, with the strong cord with which it is stitched, material strength is added to the belt, and the stitches are so drawn into the plastic rubber, that they cannot wear of the outside. The outside cover is then put on SEAMLESS, so that it cannot open, as is the case of Rubber Belting made in the ordinary way, and the plies being so firmly stitched, as well as factionned together, that the belt cannot separate as many belts made in the old way will, after being used for a time, especially when run at great speed or in damp places.

We particularly call the attention of all Mill owners to this Belt as being in the end the cheapest belt they can buy, while the first cost is only about ten per cent. more than belting made in the ordinary way. We believe it will wear more than double the length of ordinary belt. For heavy main belts you will find it superior to anything made. Also super or for SEAMLESS BELTS, as we stitch the splice in such a way that it CANNOT SEPARATE.

Try our Giant Belt. We will Warrant Satisfaction.

To the Hon. County Commissioners in and for the County of Penobscot.

The undersigned, citizens of said County, respectfully represent that the public necessity and convenience requires that public highways should be laid out and established on both sides of the Penobscot River, in the towns of Bradley and Oldtown, in said County, from the landing at the Ferry across said river, established by the County Commissioners of said County, on petition of Henry Morgan et als., in 1844, to the records of which we refer, to wit, from the present landing of said Ferry in the town of Bradley to the main street, leading through the village of Bradley, over or near the way heretofore and now used by the patrons of said Ferry, and also from or near the present landing of said Ferry, in the town of Oldtown, to the river road, leading through Grass Works, so called, in the most direct and convenient route.

And we therefore pray your Honorable Board, give notice required by law, and to view the said route, and lay out and establish such highways. And thus in duty bound will ever pray.

Dated at Bradley, this ninth day of March, 1883.

(Signed,) JAMES A. RICH, and 19 others.

Wherefore your petitioner prays your Honor to grant him a license to sell at public or private sale, and convey certain lots of land together with the buildings thereon, situated in Orono, in Penobscot County, being the homestead of the late Jeremiah Spaulding, and the same premises described in deeds from Lunt to Spaulding, dated April 19, 1877, and recorded in Penobscot County Registry of Deeds, Vol 477, page 482.
